The Australia Africa Universities Network (AAUN), as the only consortium of universities spanning Australia and Africa, has established itself to inject new vigour into the academic relationships between the two continents.

With the purpose of working together to find innovative, long lasting solutions for critical issues concerning both continents, the consortium has identified 4 areas of focus:

- Food & Nutrition Security
- Public Health
- Education
- Mining & Development

AAUN is establishing select, high calibre partnerships in research and academia and has begun mutual research capacity building in order to bring positive improvements to our areas of focus.

AAUN has secured vital relationships and teamwork with international agencies and business to help propel us to achieve our mission. As a means of further engagement with these strategic associations, and in order to cultivate new ones, AAUN has set to work on a comprehensive knowledge sharing portal via its website that offers intelligence and advisory services for government institutions, the corporate sector and media on Africa-Australia relationships and research.

Vision

High impact, strategic educational and research partnerships providing sustainable solutions to challenges jointly facing Australia and Africa.

Mission

To enhance targeted Africa-Australia partnerships through a network of collaborative research and education initiatives. AAUN improves the capacity and connectivity of academic talent across the two continents. Through working with research institutions, business and government, AAUN seeks to deliver sustainable solutions to our joint challenges.

Values

Innovation Committed to growing and supporting a culture of innovation within its network.	Collaboration Committed to fostering open & supportive collaborations for the benefit of our global community.	Equity Committed to promoting equal partnerships between African & Australian research institutions.	Sustainability Committed to being a leading advisory & advocate on sustainable solutions for issues affecting Australia & Africa.
